MONTREAL HAS FAILED TO FULFIL HER DUTY TO MCGILL UNIVERSITY

LACK OF INTEREST AND SUPPORT SEVERELY CEN-
SURED BY REV. DR. BARCLAY--APPROACHING
CAMPAIGN WILL BE SUPREME TEST OF CITY'S APPRECIATION AND
MCGILL'S FUTURE

At the Canadian Club banquet on Monday, Dr. Barclay made a stirring appeal on behalf of McGill University. He made reference to the big campaign for funds which is about to be inaugurated at the University, and called upon the citizens of Montreal to show some sort of appreciation of the valuable asset which hitherto they have most shamefully neglected. "There is no institution of this city of which you have more reason to be proud than McGill, and yet what have you done for it outside of the princely benefaction of a few men whose work will go on bearing golden fruit long after they have departed. You have shown your pride in the University by allowing it to struggle on year after year under dire financial strain and stress, and by allowing able men, whose names were a tower of strength and whose services were invaluable to go elsewhere. When I think of such men as Callender, Richardson and Rutherford who have gone from McGill because you would not keep them, my heart is distraught. I appeal to the merchants, to the manufacturers, to the professional men, and to all self-respecting citizens of this great city, not merely to the financial magnate but to all, because the more widely is the sympathy spread the stronger will be the position of McGill in the future. Every man has his part to play and his burden to bear, the soldier to defend his country, the lawyer to secure justice, the doctor to heal, the pastor to teach, and in the same way it is a function of the merchant to provide. And just as the main motive of the soldier is not his pay, just as the main motive of the lawyer or physician is not his fee, and that of the true pastor is not his stipend, so the main motive of the manufacturer should not be what he can gain for himself, but what he can do to provide for his city and his country."

Dr. Barclay then proceeded to deliver a remarkable tribute to the national and even world-wide importance of McGill's educational achievement. "It is paying splendid dividends now. McGill has given back to Montreal, to Canada and to the world at large with rich interest everything it has received and I have no hesitation in saying that Montreal and Canada could have no more valuable investment today than McGill University."

Dr. Barclay's eloquent appeal met with prolonged and tremendous applause. Let us express the hope that this may be regarded as an augury for the complete success of the great financial campaign on which the University is about to embark. With regard to this campaign the Daily is prepared to state that positively the first authentic announcement concerning the actual methods and means to be employed as well as the detailed results from day to day will receive publication in our columns. Some of our local contemporaries have been venturing vague predictions as to the nature and extent of the financial campaign but nothing definite has thus far been announced from headquarters.

INTERNATIONAL CELEBRITY WILL ADDRESS STUDENTS

SIR ANDREW FRASER, FORMER GOVERNOR OF BENGAL
FAVORS MCGILL

On Friday afternoon at five o'clock in Moisson's Hall, the undergraduate body at McGill is to have the opportunity of hearing one of Britain's most distinguished servants in the person of Sir Andrew Fraser. The subject of his address has not as yet been announced, but we are assured that anything he may have to say will be of intense interest and great import in the Imperial world.

Sir Andrew Henderson Leith Fraser was born in 1848 and is a Master of Arts and a Doctor of Laws—his name is well known in the world of political economy, and he is perhaps more conversant with Indian affairs than any other man in the Empire. A brief summary of his career in India suffices to know his high position in the realm of Colonial Affairs. Appointed to the Indian Civil Service in 1871, after a long and successful term of office he became officiating secretary to the Government of India, Home Department in 1898 and '99. He became Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces in 1899 and then from 1903-1908 held the important office of Governor-General of Bengal. Other important functions were President of Police Commission in 1902. He is a C. S. I. 1897, and was decorated for his valuable services as Land Revenue Officer.

Sir Andrew Fraser is a great golf enthusiast and possesses a keen sense

PRINCIPAL PETERSON SPEAKS IN NEW YORK

ELOQUENT ADDRESS OF MCGILL'S
REPRESENTATIVE CREATES GREAT IMPRESSION

NEW YORK, NOV. 14TH: SPECIAL TO THE MCGILL DAILY.

It was a large and distinguished gathering that assembled last night at the Hotel Astor on the occasion of the annual banquet of the Canadian Club of New York. Prominent among the guests who delivered stirring and forcible speeches were Mr. Andrew Carnegie, the Hon. Geo. E. Foster, and Principal Peterson of McGill University. The subject which seemed to be in vogue throughout the evening was the International Peace Movement, as most recently exemplified by the Anglo-American Arbitration Treaty and the tendency for universal disarmament. References rather pointed in tone were made to some of the features of the Liberal regime in Canada and rather caustic criticism was applied to the autonomy-idea which seemed to be over-worked and placed out of its due proportion by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues.

A ringing note of imperialism was sounded by Principal Peterson in an address which was greeted with much applause by all present. McGill's representation made reference in particularly eloquent manner to the ever growing cordiality between Canada and the United States, a cordiality which in the academic world was especially noticeable.

Mr. Henry Coatsworth, President of the McGill Society of New York and a very prominent legal practitioner of the American metropolis, together with a large representation from the club over which he presided, was also among the guests. Thus the gathering was in several ways of particular interest to McGill men.

FREE COURSES IN AGRICULTURE

Macdonald College has issued an illustrated circular of information concerning the free short courses in agriculture to be given there from January 9th to February 3rd.

To the practical farmer the programme must be a most interesting one. Cereal husbandry and live stock will be dealt with from January 9th to 30th, with Professors Klinck and Barton in charge; and the horticulture and poultry keeping from January 23rd to February 3rd, under the direction of Professor Blair and Mr. Elford. Besides other members of the college staff, outside specialists will assist.

The judging of cattle, horses, sheep and swine; a slaughter demonstration; and practice work in judging meat carcasses will be prominent features of the live stock work.

In cereal husbandry, the problems connected with the cultivation of the soil; the conservation of soil moisture; the maintenance of soil fertility; the rotation of crops, etc., will be discussed, as well as a careful study made of the principal grains, roots, hay, pasture and fodder crops adapted to the province of Quebec.

In the horticulture section, lectures will be given on the principles involved in the successful development of the various crops of that department, and demonstrations, so far as possible, in greenhouses and laboratories, illustrating the practical application of these principles. Orchard management, the growing of small fruits and vegetables and the planting and care of home grounds will be touched upon.

In the poultry husbandry course, lectures, illustrations and opportunities for practice will be given. Among others, the following topics will be discussed: The origin and history of the various breeds; poultry house construction; the summer and winter management of laying hens; the breeding and judging of utility poultry; the production of fertile eggs; incubation and incubators; brooders and the best method of raising chickens; methods of feeding poultry; the growing and fitting of poultry for the market; health in the poultry yard; insects.

These short courses afford the farmer an opportunity for needful relaxation from his wonted round, combined with the pleasure and profit that must come to him from the acquisition of the latest scientific information bearing on the great principles at the basis of his own calling.

Both courses are open to farmers and farmers' sons; that covering horticulture and poultry keeping is open as well to their wives and daughters. None under eighteen years of age will be accepted.

Riley Hern says:

"Here's good luck to the McGill Daily! It is making good, and the boys deserve credit for their pluck and energy. And it is as practical a School of Journalism as one could conceive."

Thank you, Mr. Hern, for setting along very nicely.

THE JUNIOR DANCE

The formal social season of the University opens on Friday with a Junior Dance. This is an event which has attained considerable prestige and importance and is looked forward to with much interest and pleasure. What the "Junior Prom" is at Harvard and Penn, the Junior Dance is at McGill. On the occasion there are assembled all the gaiety and all the beauty not only of the university community but also of a certain select class of citizens who claim a direct interest in Old McGill. An occasion such as this at a great university carries with it a peculiar air of distinction. All the superior qualities of culture and refinement are given the best possible opportunities to display themselves in easy unconscious perfection.

The Junior Dance is an established institution at McGill. It has been an annual event for upwards of a dozen years and is gaining ground steadily until it may almost be termed the banner event of the social season. It is under the entire control of the Junior Year and the degree of its success depends in a great measure on the thoroughness of executive organization in the Junior Year. Whatever surplus remains after expenses have been paid is handed over to the Annual so that the Junior Dance can be of material assistance to an important feature of undergraduate life.

If preparation and thorough planning can accomplish anything we can vouch for the unprecedented success of this year's Junior Dance. The executive organization of the year 1913 has been most happily arranged. The Junior Dance committee have gone right ahead and have spared no expense, trusting that their efforts would be duly rewarded by the appreciation of the whole undergraduate body. Let us hope that their expectations will not be disappointed.

It has been aimed to make the Dance as far as possible a University function and a select one at that. The subscription list is strictly limited to two hundred couples. Out-siders are charged three times the amount of undergraduate subscriptions. To date there remain some sixty reservations but these are being rapidly snatched up so that there is every prospect of a limited number being present.

In thus voicing our heartiest commendation of the aims, conduct, and character of the Junior Dance, we trust our appeal will receive an enthusiastic response. If as an undergraduate of McGill you have any appreciative instinct for the peculiar "fairly" experiences of a regular college dance, —the exquisite sensation of being removed for a time at least from all that pertains to this "dull, cold, unprofitable world"— the full enjoyment of what may truly be termed an oasis in the monotonous round of toil which exacting academic standards require—if you find in this something kindred to an element in your inmost aesthetic nature, something remote from common experience, BE SURE THAT YOU ATTEND THE JUNIOR DANCE ON FRIDAY.

We wish to make special acknowledgement of the splendid spirit displayed by Queen's towards McGill in connection with the football game on Saturday. The "Queen's Journal" on Friday appeared on Friday with a long article headed "The Courtesy of McGill."

A special exhortation was addressed to the students to return in kind the welcome which Queen's had received at McGill a few weeks previously. And from all accounts the exhortation was met with an enthusiastic response. The McGill team received splendid treatment on all sides and returned from Kingston feeling the warmest sense of gratitude towards their hosts.

The Daily sincerely hopes that to-day's mass meeting students will be large enough to give the proposed change on the Council thorough examination and discussion. A member this is a vital issue and represents a big change more ways than one. On the one hand, do you think Council should be enlarged and that athletics should be given additional representation? On the other hand, do you think that there are other positions in college which should receive Council representation in priority to the present of the Athletic Association? What about the Club, and the Daily for example? All these problems must be probed to the bottom before a just verdict can be reached. The correspondence column of the Daily has a matter pro and con and has probably stimulated in various quarters.

S FOR SOCCER CHAMPIONSHIP RECEIVE SET-BACK

the Campus was probably one of the best soccer played this year. The intercollegiate Union. The recent but desolate this put up a splendid played in two games, and at the end of the game, the play Bissonette of the field down the field. For the rest of this half play very even, neither side scoring.

Early in the second half MacDonald and Beston collided, but after a couple of minutes play was resumed, both men pluckily continuing in the game. McGill fouled close to the goal, and Queen's got a penalty kick and scored. With the score 2-0 and 30 minutes to play McGill made a desperate rally, and McVittie, who played great football at all stages of the game, landed a free kick close to Queen's goal, but McCordie failed to score. Again MacVittie dropped one in front of Fisher, and Ball saved what looked like a sure score for the Red and White. On a long kick by Bissonette from outside left MacKenzie fooled Wilson by heading the ball through McGill's goal. Soon time was called, with the score Queen's 3; McGill 0.

The teams lined-up as follows:
McGill (0)—Goal, Wilson; backs, McVittie, Donaldson; halves, MacIntosh, Bott, Bain; forwards, Scott, Templeton, Beaton, Huestis, MacDermott.

Queen's (3)—Goal, Fisher; backs, Trimble, MacCardie; halves, Ball, B. MacKenzie, MacDonald; forwards, Bissonette, Masters, Foster, F. D. MacKenzie, Whitehead.

Referee, Warner, of McGill.

The standing of the three teams in the league is now as follows:—

	W.	L.	D.	Play Pts.
Queen's	2	1	0	4
Varsity	1	1	1	3
McGill	1	2	0	3

CORRESPONDENCE

PRES. OF MED. UNDERGRADS OPPOSES INNOVATION

Editor McGill Daily.

Dear Sir:— It is pleasing to note the interest that is being taken in the proposed amendment to the constitution of the Students' Council. A matter of such importance demands much more than a casual thought. It demands the most careful investigation and thorough consideration, for the size, composition and personnel of the Council should not undergo the slightest change without an intelligent and most decided vote by the Undergraduate body. Stability in organization is a characteristic which gives an executive body respect, confidence and power. So that even if a change is decided as necessary we must safeguard the efficiency of our Council by making that change only after very earnest reflection.

I am opposed to the election of the president of the A. A. to the Council for several reasons. First, allow me to point out that in every university there are four recognized and important activities claiming the attention and support of the undergraduate body. These are the athletic, the social, the musical and the literary. Here at McGill, as elsewhere, athletics justly holds first place and is represented on the Council by three members. The social, by one, namely the president of the Union, but the other two by none whatever.

It appears to me that this is ample recognition of the importance of athletics and ample representation in the guidance of college affairs. I cannot understand the plea of insufficient representation by the A. A. when at present they are 3-1 over the next recognized general activity. Of the nine councillors who are carrying on the executive work of the Undergraduate body this year, six have decided athletic tendencies. Is not this sufficient? There is every reason to believe that this proportion will be approximately retained, and as it is not the duty of the Council to do the executive work of the A. A. I think their voting influence is at present very weighty.

It is claimed by some that the minor Clubs should be represented at the governing board. But minor clubs do not represent a united and compact body. If they did a claim for representation would be well founded. But minor clubs as an organization does not exist. The term is merely applied for convenience, to designate the collection of individual clubs not yet attaining a position of major importance at McGill. I say this not to belittle in any way minor clubs, but merely to show that an organization they have no claim to representation.

As individual clubs, some are forging ahead, enlarging in numbers, commanding an interest and support from students which may in a very few years justify them in asking for a chair in the Council, and so gaining recognition as a major club. When that time comes the Student body will see the justice of their claim and grant it.

Our attention is also directed to the decision of the farmers of our present constitution. This matter was carefully and seriously considered and they decided against the representation of the A. A. by their president. The very satisfactory working out of their scheme is proof of the good judgment of these men, and their knowledge of undergraduate requirements.

It has been said as a plea that in the history of the Council, the athletic members have proven themselves the best workers. This argument is surely light for the Council as yet, can hardly be said to have a history. At any rate, a conclusion drawn from a three year existence only cannot command much importance.

In registering this my opposition to the proposed change, I do it in an effort to safeguard student institutions and promote the efficiency of the Students' Council.

Very sincerely,
T. W. SUTHERLAND.

University of California defeated Stanford in the Annual Intercollegiate Debate this year, on the affirmative of the subject "Resolved that judges should be exempt from recall."

Dr. Elliot, late President of Harvard University, has found a sport which in his opinion, is worse than football. It is aviation. This opinion from so high an authority and respecting such high matters as flying and kicking goals, may not, after all, be held in very high esteem by those practising the art. Dr. Elliot prefers the prize ring to the gridiron. Well, the prize ring is a sport, but tastes.

POPULAR LECTURER IS TAKEN ILL SUDDENLY

The Daily regrets to state that Dr. Cyrus McMillan of the Faculty of Arts fell a victim to an attack of appendicitis yesterday and in consequence was unable to continue his work. Although we are very sorry that he is thus subjected to considerable suffering, we are peculiarly gratified to be in a position to state that his recovery is only a matter of a few days. A representative of the Daily was informed last night by the physician in charge that Dr. McMillan would probably resume his duties within a fortnight because of the extraordinary constitutional vigor which a life of constant activity has induced. As an undergraduate of McGill some ten years ago, Dr. McMillan was noted as a sprinter of intercollegiate reputation. On proceeding to Harvard for a post graduate course in honor English he still further distinguished himself not only as an athlete, but as a student of remarkable originality and application.

Since returning to his Alma Mater three years ago as a lecturer in the Department of English, Dr. McMillan has earned the universal popularity and esteem of all his classes and has been noted for his constant solicitude towards student interests of all kinds. His services to the Track Club were in no small sense responsible for the recent Intercollegiate Championship, while his hearty endorsement of the Daily ever since the scheme was first mentioned has assisted McGill's new publication in more ways than one.

We feel that in extending to Dr. McMillan the sympathy and good wishes of the Daily we are only voicing the general spirit of the undergraduate body. May he have a speedy recovery and be subjected to the minimum amount of suffering!

FRESHMEN ARE INITIATED AT THE DIOCESAN

On Friday evening was held in the Diocesan College what is known as the annual Freshman's supper; a banquet given by the Student body in honor of the "freshies."

A most delightful repast was enjoyed by all. Even the Freshmen who had been warned of the initiation ceremonies which followed the supper seemed to be able to drown their sorrow in the flowing bowl, i. e. ginger ale.

At the close of the supper the following toasts were proposed and replied to.

The King:—H. S. Robinson.
The Church:—Dr. Abbot Smith;
Bishop Farthing.
The Faculty:—G. J. McCormack;
Principal Rexford.

The Board of Governors:—J. A. Os-

RECENT APPOINTMENT AT WESLEY COLLEGE

LECTURER IN LATIN AT MCGILL AND GRADUATE OF QUEEN'S.

T. H. Billings, M. A., who was lecturer in classics during the fall term last year, has accepted the chair left vacant by the resignation of Prof. A. T. Hawley, who has entered the study of law. Prof. Billings was for a time lecturer in McGill University, and is well known throughout the student world of Canada, having been for some time the travelling secretary in charge of the Y. M. C. A. university work in Canada. Since he left Wesley last Christmas he has been engaged in post graduate study in Chicago.

FORMER WESLEYAN COLLEGE BOY.

Another appointment to the staff is that of R. F. Argue, B. A., who will lecture on a number of matriculation subjects. Mr. Argue was senior stick last year, and is very popular among the students, so that his appointment is being received with enthusiasm.

At Brown, approximately 50 per cent. of the undergraduates are members of the Union.

According to figures gathered at Indiana University the average cost of living for a student is less than $400 per year.

The death of Mr. Pulitzer, it is announced, will make no difference in the plans of the School of Journalism, which is being erected in connection with the Columbia University. Without any desire to make of journalism a close corporation, which would be sublimely impossible, it is certainly a noble idea to provide special training for the men through whose minds information of an entire country is destined to be filtered.

INTERCOLLEGIATE MISSIONARY CONFERENCE AT BELLEVILLE

It is an interesting scene that presents itself to a citizen of Belleville standing on a certain street corner of his native town shortly after the five o'clock train comes in. Streams of men and women students with college colours of every hue much in evidence and carrying banners and suitcases were coming along a number of parallel streets, turning to the right along Bridge street and converged into one of the doors of the church of that name.

This incident was in connection with the second Intercollegiate Missionary Conference which was held in Belleville from Friday evening last to Saturday night. Two hundred and eighty delegates were present from colleges of Ontario and Quebec. Of these fifteen were from McGill, a hundred and eighty from Varsity, eighty from Queen's and smaller delegations from some of the other colleges.

The morning and afternoon sessions were taken up chiefly in the discussion of questions of more vital interest, with respect to missions, to students of the colleges represented. Evening and Sunday sessions were rendered memorable with addresses delivered by Canon Gould, Lovell Murray, Dr. Tom Jays returned missionary from Africa; Rev. Henry Keith of Peterboro; C. W. Bishop, of Toronto and Miss M. Melcher of New York.

Each speaker had a message, each insistent in its character, and it is safe to say that these messages met with a response from the heart of many a student privileged to be listeners. The meetings were powerful and the missionary spirit was unmistakably supreme.

What completed the enjoyment of the three days was the splendid hospitality and whole-souled kindness shown by the citizens of Belleville to the students billeted with them, individually and collectively. A reception at the Albert College, situated in the town on Saturday afternoon afforded the delegates of different institutions an opportunity of becoming much better acquainted with each other. The days of the conference, though few in number offer an experience which all present agree they cannot afford to miss.

BIG MISSIONARY CONGRESS IN MONTREAL THIS WEEK

The attention of students is called to the Men's Missionary Congress to be held in Montreal from Wednesday to Friday of this week. Almost a thousand delegates are registered from the city and the Province of Quebec.

The meetings of the Conference are to be addressed by men who are among the most eminent speakers along missionary lines to be found in the world. Most of the speakers have come to Montreal from a series of similar conferences extending across the continent from Vancouver.

Sir Andrew Fraser is an M. A. and LL. D. of Edinburgh University. He was for 37 years in the Indian Civil Service, rising from lower to higher positions until in 1903 he was made Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, a post which he held for five years. He is reported as having stated that if the time ever came when his political duties would interfere with his church and other religious work he would be forced to give up his political office.

At one of the meetings in the Calcutta Y. M. C. A. where he was speaking during the height of the anti-British feeling which prevailed there a short time ago, an Indian fanatic sprang out of the audience, and a revolver at Sir Andrew's waist and pulled the trigger. Twice the bridges missed fire, and he could try a third time, one of the M. C. A. secretaries grasped him, while a native gentleman threw himself in front of Sir Andrew.

They hurried Sir Andrew to the platform while the police were would-be assassin into the audience was being taken when the man had been taken. Sir Andrew said he would go to finish his address. His speech was that the whole meeting with anarchy, and as much as his life was in danger.

Sir Andrew put them to rest with the words: "I am an Englishman, I must go back," and he went to the hall and finished his address without a tremor or a sign of nervousness.

Robert E. Speer, D.D., is secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions in the United States. He has travelled all over the world studying missionary problems. His degree of D. D. is among the few instances of that degree being conferred on laymen. He is a Princeton graduate, and when Woodrow Wilson resigned the presidency of that institution to enter political life, the position was offered to Dr. Speer, who, however, declined to continue his missionary service.

The meetings which will be of most interest to students, with those who will speak at them are as follows:—

Wednesday, 4 p.m. Speakers, Dr. Speer and Canon Gould of Toronto.

Wednesday, 8 p.m. Speakers, Dr. Speer and J. Campbell White, the Secretary of the Laymen's Missionary Movement.

Thursday, 3 p.m. Speakers, Silas McBee and J. Campbell White.

Thursday, 8 p.m. Speakers, Sir Andrew Fraser and Silas McBee.

Friday 3 p.m. Speakers, Prof. G. A. Johnston-Ross.

Friday, 8 p.m. Speakers, Rev. J. B. Silcox of Kansas City, and Sir Andrew Fraser.

These meetings will be held in St. James Methodist Church. To insure entrance one must become a regular delegate to the Conference and pay the registration fee of $2.00. For the benefit of those who wish to attend only a few of the sessions, the McGill Y. M. C. A. has secured tickets of admission for ten men for each of the meetings. These tickets will be given free to those who apply at the office for them. As there are only ten for each meeting, an early application will be necessary to secure one.

Oxford and Cambridge are training hard for their coming Rugby football match. The dark blues have shown very good form recently and should have no trouble in defeating the light blues, as they have not been able to get into their usual good form.

THE WEEK'S SHOWS SPECIALLY REVIEWED

CHARLES KLEIN'S
"THE GAMBLERS"
AT THE PRINCESS

"The Gamblers" which is the offering at the Princess this week is by far the best play that has been seen in Montreal this season. The piece is Charles Klein's masterpiece and it is without an equal among dramas of its kind. The audience which completely filled the theatre on Monday night was worked up to an extreme degree of enthusiasm both by the intense story and the superb acting, so much so that at the end of the second act they cheered till they almost raised the roof, and it was all merited. Jane Carol as Mrs. Darwin was responsible for a good deal of the enthusiasm, but no small share of it was due to Orme Caldara as Wilbur Emerson and Charles Stevenson as James Darwin.

The story deals with gambling of every description, gambling with money, cards and love and has in it a lesson for everyone, for the young man and the young woman, for the husband and the wife.

Not the least noticeable feature of the production is the elaborate stage settings, only two in number, but magnificent indeed.

In conclusion let us say that anyone who has any interest whatever in modern life should not fail to avail himself of the opportunity of seeing "The Gamblers."

THE ORPHEUM

The bill at the Orpheum for the week is on the whole a very good one.

In his "Scientific Exhibition Concentration" shows the ridiculous and at the same time scientific side of hypnotism. One of his acts, shows by mind power he forces the blood from a young man's arm back into his body is extremely good.

"The Dollar Bill," with Wilbur Mack and Nellie Watkin as the principals, is splendidly acted and at the same time highly amusing. It is very much like "After the Storm" and equally welcome.

"His Gay Papa" is undoubtedly the most amusing act on the programme. We find a young lawyer toiling in the law courts to support his rather youthful dad, who has a never-failing admiration for women kind. A beautiful young widow in dire distress appears. His father is equally distressed. The son comes to the rescue and all ends happily.

Ed Morton has a good line of songs and is very generous with them. Anyone who remembers Mr. Lawrence and his delightful renderings will enjoy the style of Mr. Morton.

"The Hold Up" is very realistic. Trains rush to and fro upon the stage, bells clang and everything else happens which is usual around a station. The mechanical part of the act is undoubtedly the best.

Among the other members are Clare and West. Singing, dancing and playing on the piano describes their act which is about the average in quality.

Suth and Campbell try very hard to amuse the audience with what they call "Sidewalk Conversation."

Dolores Willicote concludes the bill with her Indian Leopards.

THE THEATRE ROYAL

At the Theatre Royal this week Southern and Oberwarth present a musical extravaganza in two acts entitled "The Gay Widows." The first act takes place in the U. S. Hotel at Saratoga and follows the adventures of Dinah McSorley and Miss McCarthy, two gentlemen of Hibernian extraction, who are doing the town. The rest of the cast includes a chorus of many sprightly damsels, who spend their time in endeavors to divorce these two comedians from their apparently unlimited "hard-earned." Incidentally ten catchy musical numbers are introduced.

The olio consists of four acts put on by Blanche Gordon, J. C. Hart & Co., the Carletons and Ritter and Foster. Miss Gordon is the possessor of a good voice and her numbers pleased the house. "The pipe-bitter" gave J. C. Hart many good opportunities for a fine line of slang. The Carletons give a few minutes of Irish songs and humor and Ritter and Foster closed the olio with some first class dancing. They also introduced a good rag entitled "That College Rag."

The second act continues the travesty introduced in the first, a typical bookie works his wiles on the two innocent Irishmen who take a long shot on So-Long, and incidentally say "so-long" to their money. The girls get off some good stunts, including most of their clothes in a bathing scene. However the dialogue is so clever that no one can possibly take offence, and not one joke is indulged in which does not sparkle with real humor.

Miss Grace Foster as Mattie May (real kittenish) proved the most attractive personality in the second act and her song hits with Max Ritter (the gentleman with the musical hair) were good. The McGill Daily begs to apologize to the Theatre Royal for omitting to run their notice last week. Also our apologies are due to the students for failing to notify them of the excellent show put on at our local burlesque house. The Big Review was the attraction and presented Miss Frankie Heath who is undoubtedly the most dainty and charming comedienne seen at the Cote Street Theatre for many years. We assure the management of the Royal that such omission was unintentional and we will take every precaution in future to preclude any such accident.

BUSINESS DEPARTMENT

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Again we would draw to your attention the necessity of mentioning the "Daily" when purchasing and of not forgetting to patronize our advertisers. The success of our paper from this end, lies in your hands because you can do a great deal more to boom the paper than our advertising representatives who are out soliciting.

E. BALLANTYNE REID, Business Manager.

We still have room on our Business Board for a few more representatives either to do office work or secure ads. We believe that the "Daily" is keeping up the standard of efficiency which marked its commencement and that it will continue to do so as long as the students support it. Any student that has a few hours to spare would greatly oblige us if he would call around and show us what he can do. Remember we are here not only to secure training and culture, but also to perform some service at least to our Alma Mater.

BASKETBALL GAMES
RESULT IN HUGE SCORES

The first series of interclass matches were played off on Saturday. Seniors vs. Juniors; Sophs vs. Freshies. The Senior-Junior match resulted in a win for Seniors, score 38-3. In spite of the score the game was by no means as uneven as one would imagine. The centre and wings of the Junior year played an excellent game, and with a little more support from the forward line would have changed the score considerably. The combination of the Seniors was infinitely better, and the team showed more all-round excellence than the Junior team. In particular we may mention the accurate passing between the guards and wings, which was a special feature of the Senior team play. The teams were as follows:

IV. Year	Forward	III. Year
R. Ross		E. Papke
K. Lawrence		K. Wilder (Capt.)

L. Manny	Centre	F. MacSween
(Capt.)
E. Oughtred	Wing	A. Cameron
B. McLaurin		A. Hecht
V. Brown	Guard	L. Reinhardt
E. Longworth		L. Ross

The Soph-Freshie match was won by the Sophs, score 27-0. The Freshies have been greatly handicapped by the fact that only three or four have ever played basketball before, and though the team shows wonderful progress for three weeks' practice, it is not up to the usual standard for interclass games. The Freshie centre line deserves great credit for its persistence and hard playing till the last. The Sophs played a splendid all-round game and their passing showed a great improvement over last year. This match was marked with a great many fouls—most of them, it is true, due to the inexperience of the players—but it is to be hoped that a little extra coaching will eliminate this feature before the next series. The teams consisted of:

II. Year	Forward	I. Year
I. McCaw		A. Macdon
M. Longworth		R. Waterman
V. Henry	Centre	L. De Muth (Capt.)

J. Goldwater	Wing	G. Paterson
E. Tait		M. Greene
B. Chauvin	Guard	D. Murray
(Capt.)
E. Howard		M. Bennetts

SATURDAY'S SALE
EXCEEDS ANTICIPATION

The Tea and Sale held on Saturday afternoon by the Y. W. C. A. of the Royal Victoria College was a great success. The Common Room was prettily decorated with red and white, and the booths at either end were resplendent in the colors of Old McGill. Cushions, pennants, calendars, etc., were there in abundance and were sold speedily. Cakes, fudge, marshmallow and various other sweetmeats supplied the wants of those who crowded round the eastern booth. Tea was served daintily at various small tables in true tea-room style and all present showed their thorough appreciation of it. When the afternoon was over and the tills were emptied it was found that not only socially, but financially as well, the tea and sale had been very much "worth while."

PROF. LEACOCK'S HUMOUR
POPULAR IN SCOTLAND

The latest copy of the Edinburgh University "Student" has just been received. It contains a communication called "Letters to a Fresher," presumably the term in use in Edinburgh to denigrate the ubiquitous Freshmen.

The point of interest to McGill men showing as it does the wide fame of one of our most popular professors, is contained in the first paragraph of the letter:

"My dear Fresher,
"I hope you have joined a society or two. A society is a body of students that meets once a week to listen for an hour to embryonic Stephen Leacock's ragging the chairman and for three minutes to a discussion on 'Cats as Vocalists.'"

It is evident from this that Dr. Leacock does not confine his activities to this side of the water, but generously shares his jokes with the benighted inhabitants of Europe as well. That his wit should even be appreciated by Scotchmen is the crowning glory of his career.
